

Engineering Account Manager

Job Description

Established in 1988, Spitfire are a leading owner managed medium sized internet and telecommunications service provider. We are one of the select few in the UK to have our own core network. We provide innovative Internet, Cloud, IP telephony and IoT solutions to over 5,500 business customers, many of whom are famous brand names. With emphasis on engineering skills and industry leading customer service, we aim to build long term business relationships.

We are currently looking for graduates with the drive and determination to succeed in a dynamic sales team to enrol on our industry leading training programme. Located in London or Birmingham, this is a fantastic opportunity to join an exciting technology company in a fast-moving industry and build a long term high earning career.

You will start your first year with a comprehensive training programme where you will receive in-depth technical and sales training, including working towards gaining your CISCO CCNA certification. This is a challenging graduate role with responsibility for managing customer's technical requirements from a very early stage and so successful candidates will be able to apply themselves right from the off. You will be trained with all the skills needed to start making business to business sales to a broad range of Small to Medium Enterprise customers.

This is an outstanding first step for a high achieving graduate candidate who is career motivated and looking for their first technology sales role. You will have at least a 2.1 in a STEM, IT, computer science, business, economics, geography / geology, or similarly intellectually challenging degree subject. Engaging to talk to, you enjoy mastering a subject and then applying your knowledge accurately to make a difference in the workplace.

Location: London, SW9 or Birmingham B4 6AT
Hours: Monday to Friday, 40-hour week, permanent full time

Responsibilities

- Learn, assimilate and keep up to date with industry technology
- Grow and cross sell Spitfire's products into new customers and existing customer base via telephone and customer facing meetings
- Meet and exceed set sales targets and sales activities
- Identify sales opportunities within the existing base in order to capitalise on maximum sales growth
- Understand and keep abreast of competition, their issues, products and pricing
- Provide support and day-to-day account management to allocated customers
- Assist other departments in resolving customer issues to help retain clients
- Prepare written presentations, customer demonstrations, costs saving analyses, and product quotations
- Record all sales leads and manage these on a day-to-day basis
- Update and provide accurate sales order and forecasting figures
